

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XIX.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1891.

NO. 62

HUSTONVILLE.

—We regret to report that Mr. J. B. Green improves very slowly and is not yet able to leave his room.

—George McKinley, a youth of 15 years, lacerated his left hand fearfully last Saturday by the accidental discharge of his gun while squirrel hunting.

—It is in contemplation to renovate the old academy building for a public school building and prolong the term to the usual ten months of colleges and graded schools.

—About 35 excursionists took passage at Moreland's last week for Louisville to attend the "Satellites" blow out. Most of them got back in time for Sunday-school. All are enthusiastic and booked for the next annual excursion.

—Dr. Brown has put Mr. J. W. Hocker on a regular course of chalybeate and sulphur waters since the death of "Polly" Hocker, his accomplished parrot. At this writing our scribe is unable to obtain data for a fitting synopsis of Polly's brilliant though brief career.

—Judge Cannitz resents the charge that his mill is propelled by antiquated undershot water power and would have the world know that he has an electric plant adequate to a smooth and gratifying operation of its complicated machinery at all times, and only a button to press to put her in full blast.

—Well, what's the matter with the surplus of interior banks? We have happened at Stanford on as many as three occasions when good paper was brought from Mercer to borrow Lincoln money, and now comes news of a Harrodsburg cashier's "outing" because of "shortage." "O tempora! O mores!"

—Mrs. McNeely and daughter, Mrs. White, of Nashville, are visiting at Mr. Hugh Logan's. Miss Ethel Wright, of the Milledgeville neighborhood, is visiting Miss Annie Harper. June Reid, of Longview, Ala., is at home on a visit after a prolonged stay. Rex Reid is here from Somerset. Miss Helen Reid, of Somerset, arrived Saturday. Mrs. W. R. Williams has sold her stock of millinery to Miss Georgie McAfee, of your vicinity.

—The attendance at Hustonville Christian College is increasing weekly and the last three additions to the 18 boarders are from Missouri, Ohio and New Mexico. The patrons and many friends of Miss Lizzie Carter will be glad to know that she is again a member of the faculty. She has entire charge of the vocal class and will assist in instrumental instructions. Miss Lizzie is a great favorite with all her pupils and sustains her reputation of rare excellence as a teacher of music.

—The County Cooperation Convention of Lincoln Christian Churches held their fall semi-annual meeting at Hustonville Christian church last Saturday and with good speaking, cheering reports from committees and a regular avalanche of mouth-watering lunch baskets, all left happy in all that the hardest to satisfy could suggest as part of a complete program of spiritual and material good things. Rev. J. W. Masters, county evangelist, reported 50 additions to the fruits of 32 day's labor in his new field. Rev. H. W. Elliott, State evangelist of the Christian church, preached here Sunday. Capt. Joe Huffman has taken charge of Mr. Green's Sabbath-school at Moreland since Mr. G.'s confinement to his room.

—Three coons of Milledgeville, ranging from 13 to 16 years of age, selected a roadster each from stables near that town and dashed into and through our quiet village one night early last week in regular cow-boy style, except the expert pistol shooting, and nearly succeeded in making a successful break for home, but Farris Smith fell into our marshal's clutches and was promptly hoisted into the hopper of Judge Cannitz's mill next day. His father was on hand with the necessary toll and paid for his young hopeful's fun. With rare parental forethought and most commendable discretion he selected a supple black hickory from a handsome assortment near the road and after he saw Farris safe from the clutches of grim law, "lit upon him like a thousand of brick" and wore that limb to a frazzle as a supplement to the court-room crowd's entertainment, and it is probable that Farris will ask Mr. Sandridge's permission to ride a favorite horse next time. Another of the trio concluded it prudent to come in and voluntarily take his medicine and is now actively engaged on public works. It is but a matter of time with the third.

—IMPORTANT TO SOLDIERS.—Mr. Frederick Jones, who formerly represented the U. S. Pension Bureau in this State, has become associated with the Claim Agency of F. I. Darling of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Washington, D. C., and will be at the Myers House, Stanford, Ky., Tuesday, Oct. 20, 1891, and Mrs. Harris' Hotel, Crab Orchard, Ky., Thursday, Oct. 22, 1891, to confer with ex-soldiers and others having claims against the government for pensions, increase pension, bounty, etc., and to receive such claims for prosecution. Every old soldier and soldier's heir is invited to call. Advice free. No fee, unless successful. *

MERCER COUNTY.

Items of Interest Picked up by an I. J. Attache.

PLEASANT HILL, Oct. 3.—Those who have never visited "Shakertown" have no idea what they have missed. The village is noted for its beauty. It was founded in 1805 and the "Public Office," as they call it, is a brick building erected at a cost of $40,000. This building, in reference to cost, is a fair sample of several others here. The people as a general thing possess the faculty of making visitors feel at home. Messrs. Pennybaker and Smith were especially kind to our party and left nothing undone in their efforts to entertain. They say that they do not do the business in fine cattle, horses, etc., they used to, but it is still quite lively. In former days, too, they tell me, they used to do an immense business in preserves of all kinds, using each season about 100 barrels of sugar in making 20,000 gallons, which were sold at about $16 per dozen quarts, and sent mostly to Mexico, Texas and New York. The preserves they make now are mostly sold in Cincinnati and Little Rock, Ark. They are now making about 100 dozen brooms per week, which they sell readily at $2 to $2.50 per dozen.

Pleasant Hill is an exceedingly appropriate name. From this point for miles in every direction can be seen beautiful fields of blue-grass, for which Kentucky is noted, while in the distance in an easterly direction are the lovely cliffs of the Kentucky river and the famous High Bridge. The Shakers have an interest in the Mercer Staveless Woodenware Factory, near High Bridge. While there the other day Mr. Shelt. Ransdall, one of the company, showed me the workings of the immense machinery. This factory will shortly have the capacity to manufacture 900 buckets daily and will saw in the mill from 10,000 to 15,000 feet of lumber. It is immediately on the banks of the Kentucky and the very best of timber is of easy access. The inventors of the staveless woodenware believe they have in it the equivalent of a California gold mine and as the company is composed of genuine gentlemen, it is to be hoped that their fondest hopes will be realized.

After driving over a goodly portion of Mercer county this week I am constrained to believe the statement of an old gentleman who has been all over every county in the State, that there are more magnificent country residences in this county than in any of the other 119 counties in the State, notably those of W. W. Goddard, John L. Cassell, A. B. Bonta, E. W. Leyen, Geo. N. Handy, Thomas C. Coleman, Daniel J. Curry, the representative of Mercer county in the last General Assembly, etc. Mr. Isaac Terhune & Sons tell us that they raised on an average 26 bushels of wheat to the acre in a field of 150 acres.

Harrodsburg, too, if it keeps up its present gait very long, will soon be known as the city of fine residences. For "architectural splendor" a great many that have been put up cannot be beaten, while those of Maj. Ed Rosser, the noted railroad contractor, Mrs. L. D. Cardwell, Messrs. Jesse Cogar, Geo. Bohon, Phil B. Thompson, Sr., and Paul Bell, are of surpassing beauty. The number of handsome dwellings that have been put up there in the last two years is enormous. Mr. R. C. Bradley has built the most of the houses mentioned.

The oldest church-house in Mercer county is Shawnee Run. I noticed in letters over the door the other day that it was founded 103 years ago.

The new Baptist church at Burgin is almost completed. The bell was put up the other day and Rev. Strother Cook, who is 84 years old, had the honor he desired of ringing the first church bell ever heard in the town and he says, to satisfy himself that he was heard by everybody in the place, he rang it for half an hour.

Mrs. Boram, the handsome wife, of the popular pastor of the Harrodsburg Baptist church, Rev. W. A. Boram, is a marksman of the latest Kentucky style. I saw her handle a Smith & Wesson revolver last week, to entertain a few gentlemen by-standers, and she can "knock center" 9 times out of 10. I am told that in her girlhood home in Texas she used to amuse her father and brothers by killing all the squirrels and partridges that invaded the farm domain, being as handy with a rifle and a shot-gun as with a pistol. She is one of the most talented musicians I ever saw, in face and figure almost perfection, "gentle as a summer breeze," and this is what makes its wonderful that she ever summoned enough courage to become skilled in the use of fire-arms.

In some portions of the county west of Shawnee Run church they tell me that foxes are so numerous that they have become a nuisance. They catch chickens right in the yards in broad daylight, and one lady says they have caught two or three dozen of hers in the last week or two. It would be a picnic for Messrs. John Lynn, T. Carpenter, Bob Gentry, Capt. Powell and other Lincoln fox hunters to make a raid on them down here, and if they will let it be known when they are coming, the natives will have a big one tied.

Alexander Curd, of Burgin, who lost both eyes in the war, has a large bulldog that leads him everywhere and the faithful animal has made several trips with his master across High Bridge. Mr. Curd has never applied for a pension.

At Moore's school-house I heard Rev. C. C. Cline preach an excellent sermon about "Where Happiness is Found" last Sunday afternoon. One of the best country Sunday-schools to be found is at that place. The average attendance is about 50. The members think that Mr. John B. Williams is a model superintendent. Mrs. Chap Coleman is organizer.

One of the capable editors of the Harrodsburg Sayings, Mr. John G. Palliam, lived in Stanford for several years and during his stay found in different parts of Lincoln county several tremendous caves. While down here this week I have found in his county two whose length, breadth and depth will have to be imagined, as I did not explore them far enough to attempt a description. The entrance to the one is near the Harrodsburg toll gate on the Lexington pike and it is said to run back under the town of Harrodsburg. The other is on the farm of a Mr. Cosby, near the Harrodsburg and Burgin pike. It is called "Daniel Boone's Cave" and "writings on the wall" indicate the fact that the illustrious hunter once knew the place well. His name is inscribed in one or two places and what is intended probably as the picture of his matchless gun is carved in the stone in a conspicuous place.

Harrodsburg was treated to a genuine sensation this week, when Robert C. Nuckols, cashier of the Mercer National Bank, "came up missing." It was currently reported in different portions of the county that when the fact became known the depositors made "a grand rush for what was coming to them." On arriving at Harrodsburg a few days after his departure, I asked a leading lawyer and the one who had been called in to examine Nuckols' accounts, if these reports were true and he said: "Not a word of it. I examined everything and Nuckols, so far as the Bank is concerned, left nothing out of shape. Everything is square to a dollar." Nuckols left a note stating that he would be back soon, but gave no reason for his sudden and mysterious departure. His beautiful and excellent wife is heart-broken and his two little children seem to realize the situation. A handsome young lady is said to be a figure in the case and the business of married men and women losing their heads is getting to be so common that it is really growing monotonous all over the country. With all the good people in it, Harrodsburg is a sort of a modern Sodom, anyway.

I was shown a quilt the other day made by Mrs. Bowman Terhune, containing 8,720 pieces, and was a marvel of beauty.

On an urgent invitation, I visited the home of Sue Hardin, (by Macey's Hambletonian), dam of the great 2-year-old, Cleo, 2:29, and found her to be a great individual. Her suckling colt was sold to Mr. E. N. Lyon for $500, which judges consider a low figure. J. F. W.

Some of the returns made by Deputy United States marshals, or warrants placed in their hands, are queer specimens of penmanship and spelling. A Bell county deputy sent a few in yesterday. One read:

"I Failed to Ketch the defenant the 26 of September."

Another read: "Not found in my Barwick—he gone West."

The last one was the most unique. It read: "The defendant can't be found. He has been sent up for seven years for loss stealin'."

Marshall Burchett's deputies are not much on spelling, but they are away up in G when it comes to shooting.—Post.

Successful Driver.

J. H. Goldsmith, who met with great success in the Grand Circuit last year with "Pimlico and others," writes, "I have given Quinn's Ointment a thorough trial and I can truthfully say it is the best preparation for removing a Splint or Curb that I have ever used."

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—Nearly everybody went to the Baptist Association at New Salem Sunday.

—Wonder what brings Dick Bowling down from Middlesboro every Sunday?

—Col. R. M. Jackson left Thursday with a string of horses for Cumberland Gap and Arthur, Tenn., races.

—Next Monday will be county court, common pleas court and court of claims. It will be a big day and there will be more people here than "Carter had oats."

—A severe accident happened to Mrs. Sallie Carrier on Saturday evening. She was riding a scary horse by the depot when the train passed and the animal threw her, stepping on her and hurting her severely.

—Somebody took from the stable of J. R. Hardin Saturday night a valuable horse belonging to him and almost rode it to death. Rand says if he ever finds out who did it, more blood will flow than that taken from his horse Sunday morning when he was bled.

—Mr. Henry P. Brown, Sr., and Miss Mary Fernie were married Sunday night at the Methodist church. Both are known by nearly everybody here and just that number turned out to see the nuptial knot tied. The hearty wish of myself for their future happiness and prosperity will be endorsed by all who know them.

—Antonio Viogilota, the Italian baker, will return this week to his old place at the depot. He has been at Middlesboro for the past year and says that London beats that booming town more than many an investor has been beaten by it. Mrs. Smoker will move from the Viogilota stand to the store-house of H. C. Broughton and Mr. Morgan, who runs a store in the Broughton building, will remove to the large new store-room he is erecting on his property near McKee's planing mill.

—Mr. John Engleman, formerly of this place, gave Janifer a record of 2:25½ at Lexington the other day. He had only been preparing about six weeks.

—The Lancaster Record says the magistrates bought the Wm. Ferrill farm of 170 acres, near Hyattsville, at $39.10 per acre, and will use it for the support of paupers.

—As Administrator of Stamp Turpin I will sell at 10 o'clock, on county court day, a Harkaway stud colt and blood mare; also an Alderney heifer calf. Richard Robinson.

—The first day's sale at the famous Elmendorf Stud, near Lexington, 71 of the animals brought $82,735, an average of $1,165. The unbeaten stallion, Tremont, was sold to Gen. W. H. Jackson, of Belle Meade Stock Farm, Nashville, for $18,500.

By the way, Mr. Pence will stand the great Pence at Taylorville, Ill., next year and his book of 60 mares at $100 is already full.

Ridley, of Nashville, Tenn., 16 fine yearling mules at $110. Meyer sold 90 sheep at $2.50 and some stock hogs at 3½ cts.—Woodford Sun.

STANFORD, KY., OCTOBER 6, 1891

W. P. WALTON.

HON. HARVEY M. WATSON, after an illness of three weeks, passed peacefully away at the residence of his son, Henry Watson, in Louisville, Thursday night, in the 80th year of his age. Born in Tennessee, he served several terms in the legislature, and in 1839 succeeded James K. Polk in Congress, in which he served till 1843, his term embracing the 26th and 27th Congresses, of the former of which he was the sole survivor and of the latter the last but one. In order to accept a diplomatic appointment he declined re-election to Congress, and in 1845 returned to Tennessee and was elected State Senator, and being chosen its speaker, he became by virtue of his office lieutenant governor of the State. In 1847 he bought the Nashville Union, the leading democratic organ of Tennessee, and edited it till 1851, when he went to Washington to take charge of the Union newspaper there. He was an intense Union man, but finding his efforts to prevent war futile, he cast his fortunes with the South. After the war he was called to Washington by President Johnson and he was throughout his administration his nearest advisor. He practiced law in Washington for a number of years, but retired from active labor a dozen or more ago, and spent his time alternately in Washington and with his son, in Louisville, amusing himself and interesting and instructing the public by a series of articles in the Courier-Journal signed "An Old Fogy." Of a cheerful and popular disposition, he was greatly loved by all who knew him and held in the most loving esteem by the attaches of his son's paper, the youngest members of whom were his active pallbearers. A fine old gentleman has passed to his reward. Peace to his ashes.

The next Congress, which is so overwhelmingly democratic in the lower house, would likewise be in the senate, but for the almost criminal act of the party in power making States out of rotten boroughs for the sole purpose of perpetuating that power, gained by fraud and rascality. Six States with a population of about half that of Kentucky were created because they would give the republicans 12 U. S. senators, 7 representatives and 38 electoral votes. Utah, Arizona and New Mexico have twice the population of these so-called States, but they will not be admitted because it is understood that they would return democrats to congress. Was there ever such mean and contemptible partisanship shown by a body supposed to represent the wishes of the majority?

Among the delegates appointed by Gov. Brown to the convention for the improvement of western waterways to be held at Evansville, Ind., Oct. 14 and 15 are L. J. Blakely, E. A. Gullion, Will S. Hays, all active newspaper men, and R. S. Triplett, an ex. These selections show that the governor is a man of much anagosity. If there is any class of people thoroughly conversant with the question of water, the editors are those people. Moreover, they know how to make a little go a long way, a very useful knowledge in these times of droughts.

CONGRESSMAN W. L. SCOTT, of Pennsylvania, amassed a large fortune, and unlike most persons took a great deal of it with him when he was buried. His magnificent casket required 76 pounds of solid silver, besides quantities of silk and broadcloth, and the undertakers say that within their recollection only one other American, Samuel J. Tilden, ever had his mortal tenement of clay housed so elaborately. Ghouls will probably get the benefit of this waste of money and material.

The Louisville Times anxiously inquires: "What's the matter with the Magic City of Middlesboro? The city treasurer has thrown up his job and the resignation of Alex Arthur, general manager of the American Association, and president of the Middlesboro Town Company, has been demanded by the stockholders." The bottom seems to be dropping out of things generally up there, though the Weekly News, erstwhile a daily, denies it in plaintive tones.

It is with the deepest regret that we learn of the critical condition of Col. H. M. McCarty, of the Jessamine Journal. He suffered a stroke of paralysis Saturday and his physicians fear the worst. We hope, however, that they are needlessly alarmed and that he will long be spared to the State and the profession, both of which he has served so well.

Gov. Brown pardoned 16 convicts during the first month of his term, a greater number than any other governor pardoned in his initial month. We hope the governor does not intend to try to break Blackburn's record as a pardon machine. His inaugural address made us hope for better things.

GEN. W. H. F. LEE, son of the immortal Robt. E. Lee, and member of congress from the 8th Virginia district, died at his home in Fairfax county, Sunday. He served his State well, both in war and peace, and it delighted to honor him.

ROSWELL P. FLOWER, the democratic candidate for governor of New York, appears not only to be an honest man, but one who wishes to avoid even the appearance of evil. During his terms as Congressman, he would never draw pay for a day he was not in his seat and the New York World says that after his election to the Forty-seventh Congress he sold some securities which he owned of the Union Pacific Railroad, lest his action as a legislator should be in any way hampered by their possession. This sale was effected at a loss considerably greater than the amount of his salary as a Congressman. These qualities of official rectitude are so rare that they deserve honorable mention. An honest man is indeed the noblest work of God and such acts as the above are bound to challenge the admiration of his constituents.

It is a very little one and a girl at that. This tells the tale of the arrival of an heir to the house of Cleveland, which interesting event occurred among the wee sma' hours Saturday. The little miss weighs eight pounds and has eyes exactly like its papa, who is doing as well as could be expected. The uncrowned queen of American womanhood is likewise doing well and her loyal subjects send congratulations and fond hopes for her speedy restoration. Three cheers for Frankie and Grover.

The court of appeals has affirmed a decision sentencing a man for murder who recklessly fired shots into a crowd and killed a man, holding that where one without lawful excuse intentionally fires a pistol in a crowd, for his diversion merely, and kills one of the crowd, he is guilty of murder, although he had no design to kill. Whenever a homicide is committed deliberately or without adequate provocation, the jury has the right to presume that it was done with malice.

—The Ulster county, N. Y., Savings Institution has been robbed by its treasurer and his assistant of $463,000. Both are in jail at Kingston, N. Y., and many farmers who had their savings in the bank crowded around the prison, threatening to burn it and the thieves it protected.

—The two days' sale at Elmendorf resulted as follows: Four stallions brought an average of $6,587.50; 75 mares an average of $900.00; 10 Shetland ponies at an average of $108, the 97 head fetching $98,895, an average of $1,188.48. —South Carolina has no divorce law, and her courts now refuse to recognize the divorce laws of any other State so far as they affect South Carolina relations. A South Carolinian removed to Florida, was divorced there, married again and brought up a family. He then went back to South Carolina and died. Card of Thanks.

I desire through the columns of the INTERIOR JOURNAL to thank the noble people of this town and vicinity who worked so faithfully to save my store and contents, especially my faithful clerks, Messrs. Singleton and Hubble, who fought the flames under such circumstances and in the face of such dangers as only heroes are capable of. While my losses are considerable, I am indeed thankful that it is no worse. I must not fail also to express my heartfelt thanks to Mrs. A. T. Nunnelley, of your place, for his valuable services and generalship in the heat of the battle.

Again thanking one and all, I am very gratefully,
F. M. WARE.
McKinney, Oct. 5.

THE Dead Mute, published at Danville, says that the large increase of pupils, numbering now 149, has necessitated the appointment of two more teachers and Miss Nellie Lyle and Pattie Gentry have been chosen.

REUBEN COOK, a well-thought-of colored man, died Saturday of consumption. He makes the 12th child that old Aunt Milly Cook has lost, besides her husband, all of whom died with the "galloping consumption."

BEGINNING to-morrow the L. & N. will run a special train from Lancaster to the Lebanon trots on each of the three days, leaving Lancaster about 7 a. m. and returning after the trots. Tickets on it will be sold at half fare for the round-trip.

DR. REA, the Louisville specialist, was at the Myers House last Friday. He had a large attendance and many knowing of his success in our State began treatment with him at once. Dr. Rea controls an enormous practice. Surely his experience daily would make him eminently successful in his line.

THE next regularly booked troupe at Walton's Opera House is the Inimitable Little Irish Comedian, May Smith Robbins, in the musical comedy success, "Little Trixie, the Romp Heiress." She will appear Friday night, Oct. 30. Then come "Avenge," Nov. 12, "Dan McGinty's Troubles," 17th, "Atkinson's Jollities," 26th, Beach & Bower's Minstrels, Dec. 11th, Vreeland's Minstrels, 18th and "Midnight Alarm" Dec. 26th.

"THE Record learns, with much pleasure, that there is a reasonable prospect for Lancaster to have an important accession to her bar in the person of a gentleman learned in his profession, distinguished for his eloquence and who has been honored with a high position on the bench. We can assure him a cordial welcome and we hope a lucrative practice." This neatly-turned compliment is from the Lancaster Record and refers to Judge M. C. Sautley, but we ask the writer in all candor if the judge is as smart as he gives him credit for being, would he leave Stanford to go to Lancaster? We think not and are glad to know that like all the rest of Stanford's good citizens, the judge would only swap his home for Heaven and he is not anxious even to make that exchange at present.

DISCHARGED.—Augden Bridgewater, who was arrested on a peace warrant sworn out by W. S. Wigham, was tried Friday and discharged. He admitted that he had made threats against Mr. Wigham, in fact he admitted saying that he intended to cut his head off, but he did so while mad because he had sued him. He never had any intention of hurting him or he would have done so in some of the numerous chances he has had since. The old man went on to say that he had nothing against Mr. Wigham and wanted to assure him and his wife and child that he would not hurt a hair in his head. Here he faltered and his voice became husky. "I have a wife and little daughter," said he, "and I know how they are affected by anything that affects me. But the name of Bridgewater hangs over them and nobody cares for or sympathizes with them." The tears coursed down his weather-beaten old cheeks, Judge Varnon cleared his throat and tried to look unconcerned, while a number of the spectators were visibly affected, not so much by what the old man said as the way he said it. There was no proof sufficient to warrant a bond to keep the peace and he was permitted to go in peace.

NEW LAMPS, handsome and cheap, at A. A. Warren's Model Grocery.

THE Merry Bachelors will give an impromptu hop at Walton's Opera House to-night. The dancers are requested to be on hand by 8:30 p. m.

A NICE rain fell Sunday afternoon, just enough to let us know that Jupiter Pluvius had not forgotten us. The signal service predicted frost last night.

FREIGHT train 38 ran into the switch engine at Rowland Friday, doing considerable damage and delaying 24 some time. It will take 30 days to decide who was to blame and who will be fired.

THE Stanford & Logans Creek turnpike is completed and the contractor, J. H. Ryan, is ready to turn it over to the county. He has done a good job and we are glad to know has made some money.

W. H. BRADY has sold to Joe E. Nevius his stock of fancy groceries and confectioneries at cost and carriage. Mr. Brady will go to Louisville and go in a similar business, while Mr. Nevius will continue the business at the same old stand.

A NUMBER of Stanford people enjoyed to the fullest extent the elegant supper given by Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hill on Saturday evening last. The young married couple proved excellent hosts and seemed to be as happy as their best friends could wish them.

WE are in receipt of a dispatch from R. H. Crow, dated Horse Cave, Oct. 4th, saying that the "blackmailing scheme" of Clark Cash against him had been dismissed. No one who knew of the circumstances ever believed Mr. Crow guilty of improper conduct with Cash's wife and we are glad that the whole nasty business is out of court, with no prejudice to Crow.

TO TEACHERS.—I am in receipt of notice from the superintendent of public instruction that the balance of 40 per cent, due to-day will be sent by Nov. 1; also the 20 per cent, then due. I trust that teachers will either come in person for their monthly draw or send an order by some responsible friend. Last year I had much trouble getting receipts from some teachers through their neglect. Then it is a little risky by ordinary mail. W. F. McCleary, Supt.

AN amusing circumstance occurred in Judge Varnon's court Saturday. The prosecuting witness had testified, after which the judge told the negro defendant that he could ask him any question he wanted. Arising from his seat and walking over to the witness, he began to whisper in his ear in a most guileless way, when the judge told him that the questions and answers were for his benefit and must be made aloud. The negro didn't want everybody to know his business, so he declined to ask, amid the smiles of the spectators, in which the judge joined.

THE court of claims met yesterday, with Judge W. E. Varnon presiding, who took occasion to deliver a little inaugural address, which was well timed and well worded. The following justices were present: John Bailey, A. C. Carman, H. R. Thurmond, W. A. Collier, F. S. Blankenship, C. Brown, G. D. Smiley, T. M. Pennington, H. F. Newland, W. L. Dawson, A. G. Faulkner, L. B. Adams, W. M. Leach, W. P. Grimes and W. T. Lee, all present save B. F. Engle men, who was sick. The examination of claims commenced at once. All road claims were cut from $2.50 to $1.75 a day for teams, that price having been fixed by the last court. This will make quite a difference in the total. County Attorney J. B. Paxton has his eye skinned and is determined to let no doubtful claims get through.

McKINNEY BURNED.—A very disastrous fire visited McKinney Thursday evening. It originated in the drug store of James P. Crow & Co. and is said to have caught from the stump of a cigar, which Mr. Crow threw into a stove filled with old paper. The building was soon in flames, but by almost superhuman efforts most of the goods were gotten out, though in a badly broken and ruined condition. An empty store-room adjoining Crow, belonging to Rev. J. M. Coleman, next burned, then the residence of Bowman Smith. Nearly all of his furniture was removed, but it was done in such a hurry that most of it was rendered worthless. A vacant store-room belonging to Mrs. R. F. Bibb burned next and then the old store-room of F. M. Ware, containing 500 bushels of wheat, went up in smoke. Several barns and ice-houses were also destroyed. The losses are about as follows: Crow $1,500, Smith $1,000, Mrs. Bibb $1,000, Ware $1,500, Coleman $1,000 and Dr. Alcorn $700. The insurance is light. It was with great difficulty that the houses on the opposite side of the street were saved. The heat broke many window glass in the Verandah Hotel and Ware's store-room, but wet blankets and water prevented the houses from taking fire. Mr. A. T. Nunnally happened to be in town and assisted materially in the work of saving goods. He says he never saw as excited a crowd at any fire.

Dan Miller reports the sale of Dr. Rhodes' effects as follows: Wheat at 60 cents; corn in the field $1.40 to $1.50; mules $100; horses $30 to $93.75; cows $21 and $18.
